This must be the dying kick of old Winter.

Put this down to Vermont's credit that it is one of the few states in the union to have a self-supporting state prison.

Montpelier's desires are divided between a patrol wagon for the police and a hook and ladder truck for the firemen, but it may compromise by going a-foot.

The piece-meal feeding of the findings of the commission to investigate state institutions may prevent the clogging of the digestive apparatus. Our appetite for such things is not the most voracious.

ON A STILL HUNT.

If Burlington does not succeed in landing some new industries it will not be on account of the lack of effort on the part of the new Commercial club, one would say if he were to judge by the amount of work thus far turned off by the committees of this organization. More than one hundred letters setting forth the advantages of Burlington have been sent out to as many concerns, with a view of inducing them to locate in the city by the lake, and from them many replies more or less encouraging have been received. Of course the nature of this correspondence and the firms solicited are not being published, for then Burlington might lose what advantage it has secured, as other places would begin to bid for the industries. It will be time enough to blow the horns when the industries are safely tucked within Burlington's arms. Meanwhile the people of that city should feel a sense of gratitude to those public-spirited persons who are advancing the work, and that the desire to help is growing is shown by the increasing membership of the Commercial club.

AN UNWORKABLE LAW.

In Vermont there is so much proneness to look upon the laws of Massachusetts as models of practicability and constitutionality and to copy our new enactments more or less bodily from them that considerable surprise is felt when failings are shown up in the models. Here is an instance. A Massachusetts law gives the secretary of state right to revoke the license of a coal company when he concludes that the firm is charging an extortionate price. The Metropolitan Coal company recently raised the price of coal, and Secretary of State Olin at once revoked its license. Now the Metropolitan Coal company is practically disregarding the mandate; it is selling coal just as it was before the order and at the same price. The state seems to be in no position to back up the action of its secretary. When the Metropolitan company concludes to take an appeal to the courts it may perhaps discontinue the sale of coal, but that time is indefinite. Meanwhile the citizens of Massachusetts may take the situation as they see fit, but the fact appears patent as the Boston Transcript puts it that the statute is both unconstitutional and unworkable. The idea of revoking licenses when extortionate prices are charged is all right, but to place the judicial power in the hands of one man who is not a judge but a secretary of state is where the first impracticability of the law is shown. The second appears patent as the Boston Transcript puts it that the statute is both unconstitutional and unworkable. The idea of revoking licenses when extortionate prices are charged is all right, but to place the judicial power in the hands of one man who is not a judge but a secretary of state is where the first impracticability of the law is shown.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

He Hides His Sore.
 There are heroes of the common sort,
 Who boldly do and dare;
 And never know a scare.
 But with a medal large and bright
 And quite a bunch of pelf
 I'd honor that heroic knight
 Who always shaves himself.
 —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Handicapped.

"Lived with five families last week?" ejaculated Mrs. Housekeeper. "That isn't a very good record."
 "It wuz the best I could do, mum," responded the applicant. "I wuz sick two days." —Minneapolis Tribune.

Hamlet's Soliloquy.

"This now pay day; my trembling heart be still!
 Horatio in my attic ear did deliver
 This marvel to me—twice the ghost walked.
 'Twill watch the front tonight; perchance
 'twill walk again."
 —Baltimore American.

Operation Performed.

Elia—Isn't Fred calling on you any more?
 Stella—No. Father said that he was a verminiform appendix of society and I'd have to cut him out. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

Then and Now.

In days of old,
 When knights were bold
 And lovers, beauty smitten,
 Asked ladies' love
 They got the glove,
 But now they get the mitten.
 —Baltimore American.

Motive.

"Whatever started the story that robbery was the motive of the killing?"
 "Well, you know, it looked at first as if death had resulted from an operation for appendicitis." —New York Life.

Willie's Mother.

Willie fell in the molasses barrel in the shed.
 "Now I'll lick you, Willie,"
 His angry mother said.
 —Vassar Miscellany.

Girls Will Be Girls.

Agnes—Algy is making sheep's eyes at me.
 Pandora—I always thought him a nutthead. —Judge.

A Suggestion.

I dare suggest, though scolding's not
 Of all my gifts the chief,
 That Mary's lamb would please a lot
 If done in baa-relief.

Progress.

Briggs—It's getting so that our American cities are more and more corrupt.
 Griggs—I know it. Why, it won't be long before all the honest men will be in jail. —New York Life.

Wanted a Square Deal.

Mrs. Newed—I'd like a nice steak.
 Butcher—Yes, ma'am. You want a round steak, I suppose?
 Mrs. Newed—Oh, I don't care any thing about the shape, just so it's tender. —Chicago News.

A GOOD TEAM

Work and thrift make a combination hard to beat. Many people know the meaning of work who have not learned the meaning of thrift. The man who works and who has acquired the habit of thrift is the man who is getting ahead. The right thing to do is to save a part of your wages every pay day, deposit the amount in the Granite Savings Bank and Trust Company and watch the account grow in goodly proportions. A dollar will open an account, but if you can make it five you will get ahead that much faster.

ROUND STEAK

14c PER POUND.

For a few days we will sell Round Steak at 14c a pound. Our reason for doing this is that people are as a rule apt to think that Round Steak is not so good as some other parts and so do not buy it. Of course it is not so tender as the more expensive parts, but if, before frying it, you would use a meat hammer on it for a few moments it would make a piece of Round Steak as tender as if it were the most expensive part of the beef.

BROODER SETS A FIRE.

And Causes Destruction of a Barn in Windsor.

Windsor, April 10.—What might have been a disastrous fire at "Blow Me Down," the country place of the late C. C. Beaman in Cornish, N. H., about two miles from here, was averted last night by the prompt action of help about the premises, neighbors and members of the Windsor fire department who responded to the call, although outside of their own town.

Fire broke out in a barn just south of the large farm barn shortly after seven o'clock and burned that with several tons of hay, farming tools, wagons, a Shetland pony, two calves and about 25 hens. It is supposed that the fire caught from a brooder which was used for hatching out chickens. The loss is estimated at $3,000. It is not known how much insurance was carried, as the family is away.

MONTPELIER FARMER FAILS.

Fred McNally Has Liabilities of $292.53—Slight Assets.

Burlington, April 10.—A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday by Fred McNally, a farmer near Montpelier. He has liabilities of $292.53 and assets of $45, of which $25 is claimed exempt. Petitions in bankruptcy have also been filed by Charles Fadden a blacksmith of Rutland, who has liabilities of $289.98 and assets of $100, all of which is claimed exempt; and by Dolph F. Merchant, a butter tub maker of Stowe, who has liabilities of $411.79 and assets of $203, of which $293 is claimed exempt.

M. G. LEARY TO DEFEND McCABE.

State's Attorney Sherman to File Information Against Patrick F. McCabe.

Burlington, April 10.—State's Attorney A. L. Sherman will file an information against Patrick F. McCabe charged with wrecking the New England States Limited train on the Central Vermont railway at Bolton January 26 and with perjury, and a hearing will be held the week of April 23.

M. G. Leary, of Richmond, will appear for the respondent, and some other lawyer will assist Mr. Sherman.

Busy Izzy's Vacation.

Mr. George Silney's appearance here as a star in that musical "absurdity," "Busy Izzy" will be distinctly remembered as one of the big musical comedy successes of the season, and the announcement of his coming to the opera house, Thursday, April 12th with an entirely new fun vehicle, entitled, "Busy Izzy's Vacation" will undoubtedly be hailed as pleasant news by all. The new production will require the services of a half hundred people, embracing some of the leading comedy exponents in the profession, among whom are the well-known favorites, a Carrie Webber, Catharine Rowe Palmer, Nettie O'Brien Redding, Madeline Broughton, Matt Kennedy, Sid H. Forrester, Chas. Lozier, Harry E. Baker and a big chorus of girls and boys. The scenic environments are all new and especially attractive.

The first act takes place in the Grand Central Station Depot, New York City, where we find "Busy Izzy" preparing to depart with his friends upon a vacation tour. It is safe to say that many ludicrous incidents of travel transpire in this act. The costumeing is up to date with all the glitter and glamour of New York fashions, and a large contingent of show girls figuring prominently. The second act is at Ocean View, California. The artist has produced a real art study in this setting, the various tints of the glorious tropical scene being harmoniously brought out. The surroundings depict a view of the Pacific ocean, with the setting sun brightening all with its soft light. The scene is one of grandeur to look upon, and the action of the piece, vivacious, sparkling with color and teeming with life. Tickets now on sale at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

HANGED HIMSELF FROM RAFTER.

James Riley, J. G. McCullough's Gardner, Committed Suicide.

Bennington, April 10.—James Riley, who had been a gardener for ex-Gov. J. G. McCullough for fifty years, was found yesterday hanging from a rafter in the garret of his home at North Bennington. Riley, who is a native of Ireland, and was over 80 years old, had been failing mentally for some time. A wife, two sons, and a daughter survive him.
